

TowerCo TOTEM Joins DigitalES

The Spanish Association for Digitalisation, DigitalES, welcomes a new member.

TowerCo TOTEM joins as a partner of DigitalES, the Spanish Association for Digitalisation.

As an independent and neutral player, TOTEM offers passive infrastructure solutions for mobile networks. With its current footprint of 7,600 sites, TOTEM provides shared solutions for operators, as well as Small Cells or Distributed Antenna Systems (DAS) solutions for dense and enclosed areas.

Miguel Sánchez Galindo, General Director of DigitalES, noted that "with the addition of TOTEM, the association continues to grow in relevance, as an association and employers' organisation of the main technology companies in Spain, operating across the entire digital value chain, including telecommunications, information technology engineering, digital training, and consultancy."

Meanwhile, Patrick Farges, CEO of TOTEM Spain, expressed gratitude for the incorporation of the TowerCo as a partner of DigitalES: "It is a joy for TOTEM to take this step and become a partner of DigitalES. This is a very relevant cooperation at this time, when our sector faces multiple challenges such as the deployment of 5G or the implementation of the Gigabit Infrastructure Regulation (GIA). Therefore, we are confident that together we can continue to help create a stronger sector with the aim of supporting society and building a more digital, more connected, and safer future."

DigitalES, the Spanish Association for Digitalisation, brings together the leading companies in the telecommunications, technology, and digital innovation sectors in Spain. The objective of DigitalES is to drive digital transformation, thereby contributing to the economic and social growth of our country. Together, these companies generate 115,000 direct jobs and have an economic impact equivalent to 6% of the national GDP. www.digitales.es
